

Project Gambia

Changing lives...including yours.

Built on the edge of a rubbish dump, Kotusilo is a poor village without running water or electricity. The villagers live in overcrowded, basic and unsafe conditions: many of the houses are made from mud and it is not uncommon for them to fall down during the rainy season. When visiting Kotusilo, adults and children can be seen on the rubbish dump, often with bare feet, scavenging for anything they can reuse or sell.

You can help by donating your used clothing and shoes.

For details about Project Gambia look at our website www.projectgambia.org.uk

@rhsgambia

/rhsgambia

@rhsgambia

Changing lives...including yours